This year's Escapade in Lebanon, TN was a scorcher but well worth every minute. We experienced heat indexes of 102 several times with AC units running from early morning to late evening non stop. Marie and I are glad we took the Cricket (mini golf cart) because it saved lots walking in the heat. Escapade 2022 was the second one we attended and was much better than the first. They presented many seminars such as E-bikes, Motorhome suspension improvements, Wi-Fi on the road options, meal prep and so much more. I have a much better understanding of requirements of wi-fi on the road, as the options and terminology can be confusing (especially us antique folks). I was even able to have my suspension inspected and was given options to improve ride and handling. Is it time to say ouch for both lessons? The saying goes "you can tell the difference between men and boys by the price of their toys".

After getting back home from Spring Rally and several days in Abingdon, VA, we started the kitchen remodeling in our mother-in-law suite where we now live in with our youngest son and family. Needless to say, as is always with any project, a tad bigger than I expected. I removed what was there totally, fixed wall, reran electric, improved the plumbing, built and installed Ikea cabinets (adult Lego's) and tile back splash. The countertop was made and installed thru Ikea, way to heavy for me to handle. I am glad to say Marie now has a completed kitchen. Now it's up to her to put her tools back where she wants them. Oh, I forgot I will be building a bookcase over microwave in near future.

Don't forget our Fall Rally October 6 to 9 in Myrtle Beach, SC, at Hideaway RV Resort. We had to give back unreserved sites from our block of sites. The campground will attempt to accommodate Escapees, but your campsite may not be with the group. As long as there are sites available you can still get rally rates. Lots of us are coming in on Monday 3rd and leaving the following Monday. I hear our hosts, the Spangenberg's and Lucksavage's, have some great things up their sleeves. Be prepared to have fun!

Hugs,

Craig

The most memorable camping spot was on the Fishhook Trailhead off the Fishhook-Willow Road in the Palmer Alaska area. It was on the way to the Independence Mine State Historical Park that this very large paved empty outside and were mesmerized by an endless view down a valley cradled by long impressive mountain ranges still wearing white hats left by the winter snow. The colors varied from light green from the newly awakening flora in the valleys to dark green from ageless forestation along the upper slopes to gray from the jagged bare peaks with white tops. All was contrasted against a cloudless light blue sky. We pulled out our portable canvas chairs and a rolled-up portable table from the RV compartments. The outside lunch was very long and solemn, interrupted only by the captivating views and small talk.

We did see the Independence mine using our towed car, but spend two days at this beautiful spot. We hiked up the nearby large hill and took in the crisp air along the way.

The second day a para glider landed here and a young girl on a skateboard rolled all over the parking area wind powered by an overhead para kite.

They were father and daughter and offered a unique opportunity for friendly conversation. Overall Alaska was filled with endless incredible and memorable sights and was the most RV friendly state we ever visited.

The Sheas are staying as far north as possible this summer trying to avoid the heat. Enjoyed traveling across Michigan's UP & Sturgeon Bay Wisconsin. From the light house at St Ignas to Fayette historical iron smelting town in Garden, to underground Iron Mine in Iron Mountain. Lots to see & eat in the UP.

Banner Elk NC - Grandfather Mountain RV Park

My sister Bernie has a timeshare in Banner Elk and for the past nine years or so, several of my four sisters and a couple cousins gather for the week in late May. This year all of my sisters and one cousin were there. I take the Flagstaff 5W and my 2 cats to stay the week at Grandfather Mountain RV Park, about 10 minutes from the timeshare. My sister Laureen drove from Iowa with her Gulfstream Vintage camper and her 2 cats. (And yes, the gas prices were high but worth it). Another sister flew from Iowa because she is allergic to the cats. And the fourth sister drove down with our cousin from Virginia.

Since we had all been there before and because we are all on the Medicare side of life, our touring did not include the past hiking to waterfalls, ziplining, Apple Hill Alpaca Farm, and other physical activities so much as just talking, laughing, eating out for lunches and in for dinners, and driving to West Jefferson for shopping. When going to WJ, we always shop at the Honey Hole for our annual stock of Pecan Spice or Apple Spice Honey butters. The Ashe Cheese Factory where you can watch cheese being made and the store are also command stops. The town has many beautiful murals on buildings. One day we went to the movie Top Gun and another day to visit the Hickory Ridge Living History Museum in Boone. We partook of the timeshare activities like painting rocks, tie-dyeing t-shirts, throwing hatchets (plastic of course – no one wanted to get hurt here!), and learning Mexican Train dominoes. During the week, we also put together three jigsaw puzzles. Okay, they were all 500-piece puzzles. Maybe next year we will opt for a large one. But the smaller ones can be done on the dining room table in one day.

I didn't take many photos and none of the campground. Grandfather Mountain RV has sites along a deep-sided river that, one year, flooded from too much rain. Laureen and I had both our RVs parked along it and had to make a mad dash to move them to higher ground, in the dark, and unplugging and hitching up shin deep in water. Consequently, we now always request sites up the hillside from the office even though there have been no floods since. There are long-term sites as well as short-term and cabins. Reservations go fast for the month of May, even without including the holiday, so need to be made early in the year. All sites are full-hookup and most are pull-throughs. Not always level so make sure to have leveling blocks or boards.

Home for the holiday weekend

For Memorial Day weekend, we all dispersed. Cousin Chris and sister Joan drove home as did Bernie to Salisbury. Laureen brought her camper and cats to my "campground" at my house. Laureen gives my campground 4 stars because it is shady, has local TV and internet hookups as well as water and electric, a clean restroom and laundry, and good staff. Just no sewer hookup. My only charge for the site is some work around the house. Jean and Laureen planted lots of begonias and other flowers from their over-winter home in the garage. We also went to the 2nd annual First Fruits Farm Balloon Festival in Louisburg. It was a very warm sunny day and almost no shade unless you went inside one of the small craft tents. A very nice music stage had country, gospel, and patriotic music playing all day. We tested our CPR skills at one tent, watched a very acrobatic dog show, watched the All Veterans Parachute Team fly in, and many balloons fly out in the evening.

Salisbury NC – Dan Nicholas campground

Post-holiday, Lauren and I took our campers, cats, and Jean to Salisbury, staying at Dan Nicholas, a Rowan County campground. We had made our reservations as close as possible to our time wanted because DN charges upfront for all days reserved and there are no refunds, only a raincheck good for one year. The campground is heavily wooded but with good roads, water and electric hookups, dump station, and two restroom/shower buildings. We had reserved two pull-through sites across the road from each other in an area where there was highly sporadic cell-phone service. No internet either, but good TV stations out of Charlotte. My site was a tad difficult to get into, level the RV, and avoid the living-dining room slideout from

Dan Nicholas campground sites 12 and 10

We spent the first few days at Bernie's home, prepping and painting two rooms. Then took a day off to go to Old Salem historical district in Winston-Salem. Cost: $21 to tour several homes and businesses including the boarding school for the afternoon. Each place had costumed docents to describe the artifacts and culture of the 18th century settlement of Moravians, black, and indigenous people.

The following week, we also took a golf cart tour of uptown Charlotte (never refer to it as downtown!) which was primarily of the business and dining districts. We did pass the Carolina Panthers stadium and learned some history of the city. Charlotte was named in honor of German princess Charlotte of Mecklenburg-Strelitz who had become the Queen Consort of England and Ireland in 1761, seven years before the town's incorporation. It was primarily settled, after the Catawba native Americans, by Scots-Irish Presbyterians and a smaller number of Germans. Now it has a population of about 875,000 and is the second-largest banking center in the United States.

Home again

After nine days in Salisbury, Jean flew back to Iowa, and Laureen and I came back to Wake Forest. Because Laureen wanted to go up to Maryland to see our niece and nephews before going back to Iowa, she decided to leave the camper and cats with me and drive up to stay with our sister Joan. Maryland has few campgrounds and the nearest one to Joan is a small commercial RV park on the Bush River in Abingdon, Bar Harbor. We have all stayed there on occasion but the prices have skyrocketed to $83 a night, off-water in season. Granted there is the beautiful view of the river and the Chesapeake Bay, a small swimming pool, and full hookups with cable and internet services. The next nearest campgrounds are state parks and were all full at the time we researched. So, I got to cat-sit for a few days while Laureen enjoyed some family time. When she returned, we spent 3 days prepping and staining my front porch. A small fee (despite the heat) for a wonderful, free campsite and great company with her oldest sister.

After all that family time and touring, it has been both nice and sad to be alone with my own two cats and home. The Flagstaff is now plugged back into power, cleaned, and ready for another trip. There is just none planned for the remainder of the summer at this point.

A Trip To France

Editor's Note: Jimmy graciously shared quite a few pictures of places he has visited in France. Due to space restrictions in the newsletter, I choose to share those from his first & second days of travels. I will share more of his pictures in future newsletters. I hope you will enjoy his pictures as much as I did.

On our first day exploring, we visit Bayeux and the Bayeux Cathedral.

JUST FOR FUN AND GIGGLES

by Steve Wood SKP #113382

Gramma's Old and Crabby

A strange old lady has moved into my house

I have no idea who she is, where she came from, or how she got in. I certainly did not invite her. All I know is that one day she wasn't there, and the next day she was.

She is a clever old lady and manages to keep out of sight for the most part, but whenever I pass a mirror, I catch a glimpse of her. And, whenever I look in the mirror to check my appearance, there she is hogging the whole thing, completely obliterating my gorgeous face and body. This is very rude! I have tried screaming at her, but she just screams back.

The least she could do is offer to pay part of the bills, but no. Every once in a while, I find a $5 bill stuck in a coat pocket or some loose change under a sofa cushion, but it is not nearly enough. And I don't want to jump to conclusions, but I think she is stealing money from me. I go to the ATM and withdraw $50 and a few days later, it's all gone! I certainly don't spend money that fast, so I can only conclude the old lady is pilfering from me. You'd think she would spend some of that money to buy wrinkle cream. And money isn't the only thing I think she is stealing.

Food seems to disappear at an alarming rate-especially the good stuff like ice cream, chips, and sweets. She must have a real sweet tooth, but she'd better watch because she is really packing on the pounds. I suspect she realizes this, and to make herself feel better, she is tampering with my scale to make me think I am putting on weight, too.

For an old lady, she is quite childish. She likes to play nasty games, like going into my wardrobes when I'm not home and altering my clothes so they don't fit. And she messes with my files and papers so I can't find anything. This is particularly annoying since I am extremely neat and organized.

She has found other imaginative ways to annoy me. She gets into my mail, newspapers, and magazines before I do and blurs the print so I can't read it. And she has done something really sinister to the volume controls on my TV, radio, and telephone. Now, all I hear are mumbles and whispers. She has done other things-like make my stairs steeper, my vacuum heavier and all the knob and taps harder to turn. She even made my bed higher so that getting into and out of it is a real challenge.

JUST FOR FUN AND GIGGLES (cont'd) by Steve Wood SKP #113382

Lately, she has been fooling with my groceries before I put them away, applying glue to the lids, making it almost impossible for me to open the jars. She has taken the fun out of shopping for clothes. When I try something on, she stands in front of the dressing room mirror and monopolizes it. She looks totally ridiculous in some of those outfits, plus, she keeps me from seeing how great they look on me.

Just when I thought she couldn't get any meaner, she proved me wrong. She came along when I went to get my picture taken for my driver's license, and just as the camera shutter clicked, she jumped in front of me
I hope she never finds out where you live!
